LLANGYFELACH CHURCH:

FAITH THAT FOLLOWS; HOPE THAT TRANSFORMS; LOVE THAT CONNECTS

‘If any want to become my followers, let them deny themselves and take up their cross and follow me.’

Matthew 16: 24

Are we taking up the cross?

VICAR ANTHONY PORTER

In Matthew 16:21-28, Jesus reveals the profound truth about His mission and the path of discipleship. He tells His followers that following Him means embracing sacrifice and taking up their own crosses . This message is incredibly relevant to so many people today.

For those who may not yet know faith in Jesus , this passage challenges the notion of comfort and success as the ultimate goals in life. It invites us to consider what it truly means to live a fulfilling life. Are we willing to let go of our own desires for something greater?

Jesus emphasises that true life comes from selflessness and surrender. In a world that often celebrates individualism, this call to community, sacrifice, and purpose can resonate deeply.

Let’s reflect on what it means to follow Him, not just in words but in our daily actions. Share this message with someone who might be seeking deeper meaning in their life. It could be the spark they need.

Project Lightbulb

The idea of Project Lightbulb was developed following a discipleship programme that took place at Llangyfelach Church. From participation, individuals were asked to consider a missional project that has the potential to be impactful to our community.

After many months of careful planning, detailed risk assessments, and the development of engaging activities, Project Light Bulb welcomed pupils from four local schools to experience church life in a fun, interactive, and memorable way.

Across two inspiring days, children visited the church site and took part in a range of hands-on activities designed to encourage creativity, teamwork, and reflection. One of the highlights saw pupils planting thousands of daffodil bulbs along the church pathway—creating a colourful legacy that will bloom next spring and serve as a lasting reminder of their visit.

On the church lawn, the children rolled up their sleeves to make their own “inside-out” apple crumble, which they were able to take home and enjoy with their families. The activity provided opportunities for conversation, laughter, and learning, while helping to create warm memories of their time at church.

The young visitors also embarked on a church-wide treasure hunt, searching for letters that spelt out the phrase “Church Family.” As they explored the building, they learned more about the church’s role within the local community and discovered how faith brings people together.

Another popular activity was the Harvest Prayer Tree, where children reflected on the things they were thankful for and added their thoughts and prayers to the growing display. The simple act of gratitude sparked thoughtful discussions and encouraged the pupils to consider the blessings in their own lives.

Volunteers from Team Light Bulb spoke enthusiastically about the impact of the project. Many commented on the energy, curiosity, and attentiveness shown by the children throughout the event.

Reflecting on the two days, Rev Anthony praised the dedication of the volunteers who made the project possible.

"Without Team Light Bulb, this simply wouldn't have been possible. To see all of the children interacting with each activity and asking questions really did lead to simple yet profound faith conversations. It was wonderful to witness their enthusiasm and curiosity as they explored church life."

The project not only introduced many young people to the church environment but also helped build stronger relationships between local schools and the church community. For volunteers and visitors alike, it was a reminder of the powerful impact that welcoming, creative outreach can have.

The story of Project Light Bulb is far from over. Planning is already underway for return visits in the spring, when the schools will once again be welcomed to the church. The children will have the opportunity to celebrate St David's Day and, perhaps most excitingly, see the daffodil bulbs they planted flourishing in full bloom.

As those flowers emerge along the church path, they will stand as a vibrant symbol of community partnership, growing faith, and the lasting connections formed through Project Light Bulb. 💡🌼

Project lightbulb is a long term project and it would be wonderful to have more of our congregation involved and enthused in this mission as we mature. During Harvest-tide, we all as a church family have opportunity to add to the wonderful work of the young people by planting our daffodil bulbs in the ground in the planned places. We all that can witness life flourishing through the daffodil when the flower in the spring.

As a team, we are so grateful to Austin Bailey Foundation and Swansea and Brecon Diocese for their grant funding to get project lightbulb into operation.

Fill your life with a desire to share the Gospel of Good News

To fill our lives with a deeper desire to share the Gospel of Jesus is not first about speaking more, but about loving Jesus more. When the Good News of God's love, grace and salvation has truly taken root in our hearts, it naturally overflows into our relationships, conversations, and actions. Evangelism is not a duty driven by guilt; it is a response of gratitude to Jesus who transforms lives.

Jesus said, "I am the light of the world" (Matthew 5:14). Our calling is not to force our faith upon others but to let the light of Jesus shine through us in ways that are authentic, compassionate, and hopeful. People are often drawn to the Gospel by seeing how faith lives out through our actions.

What can we do as individuals:

- Pray daily for opportunities.
- Live the Gospel visibly through kindness, generosity, and encouragement.
- Listen before speaking.
- Share your story.
- Invite.
- Serve others faithfully and without judgment.

A Prayer for us to be boulder in our conversations:

Lord Jesus, fill my heart with a desire to share your love and light with everyone I meet. Give me a deeper desire to be more confident in sharing your story of salvation for all. Help me to continue growing into a faithful witness through my words and actions, and grant me courage, wisdom and compassion to point others towards your church. Amen

“Then you will know the truth, and the truth will set you free.”
John 8:32

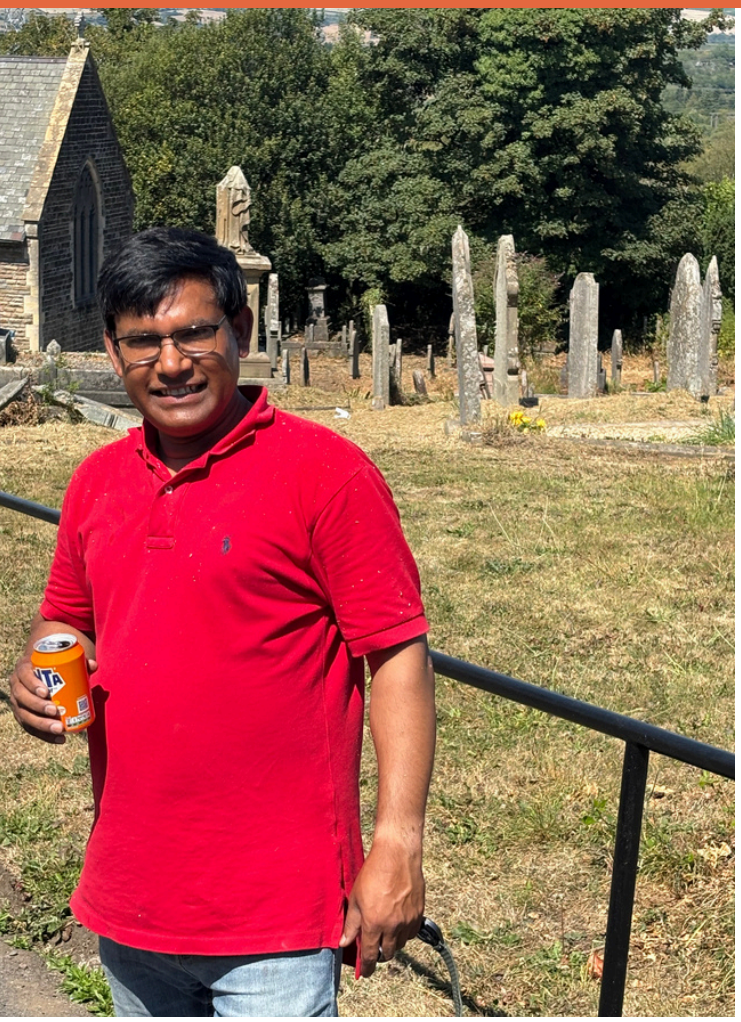

Our Curate: Fr Bashir

Rev. Dr. Bashir Masih. I was born in the vibrant city of Lahore, Pakistan — a land of deep faith and deep division. Before the pulpit, my calling began in a classroom, where I taught high school students back home. God was already teaching me there that every soul, regardless of background, is hungry for love and truth. God has blessed my life with my beloved wife, Rahat Rana, and with three precious daughters who are my joy — Neah Gill, Hana Gill, and Aram Gill. They are my first congregation. When I look back on my two years at St. Padarn's Institute, it feels like a sacred moment that flew by too quickly. It was more than study. It was a season of profound becoming — of silence, prayer, and reflection that reshaped my heart. My deepest prayer that grew there remains my life's mission: to sow seeds of peace, love, harmony, and tolerance among people of all religions, especially in those broken places where division and hatred still cast their shadow. My theological pilgrimage led me far from home to Korea Nazarene University in South Korea, where, by God's grace, I completed both my M.Div. and my Ph.D. in Mission Theology. From Lahore to Korea to Wales, God has been preparing me for the ministry. It was a dream that came true after a hard and long journey.

Our Curate: Fr Bashir

I am serving now at Llangyfelach Church in the beautiful Afon Tawe Ministry Area is not just a job or a profession, but it is a profound privilege and a blessing I do not take for granted.

Serving as a colleague under Rev. Anthony Porter, who is my incumbent, is a gift and a blessing for me. Each day I learn something new — a fresh strategy for ministry, a deeper wisdom for shepherding souls. I listen with an open heart, eagerly anticipating how this journey will enrich my understanding of what it truly means to serve. At my core, I love people from all backgrounds. I am always happy and ready to meet, to listen, to embrace — irrespective of colour, creed, or ethnicity — because I believe every face bears the image of God. I do not fear new challenges; I welcome them as invitations from the Holy Spirit. I seek His guidance daily, for I am passionate about finding fresh, living ways to share the unchanging Gospel in a changing world. For me, serving in the Church will never be merely a responsibility. It is a profound privilege. It is more than serving God's people under His instructions. It is standing in holy awe, committed to offering every God-given gift I have to share Christ's message with unwavering love, dedication, and compassion — until all come to know the Truth that sets us free. John 8:32 — "Then you will know the truth, and the truth will set you free."

Walk & Natter Group

Walking is not just a journey of the body but a pilgrimage of the soul. With every step we take, we can become more aware of God's presence, finding peace, gratitude, and renewal along the way.

Monday 13th September saw Fr Bashir's first walk ands natter session. 19 people, of all abilities, left Llangyfelach church for a 5000 step walk around the village. It will continue every Monday, weather permitting.

"I lift up my eyes to the hills - where does my help come from? My help comes from the Lord." (Psalm 121: 1-2)

Walking for wellbeing reminds us that God often meets us in the ordinary rhythms of life. As our bodies are refreshed through movement, our minds can become quieter and our hearts more attentive to God's presence. Each walk can become an opportunity for prayer, reflection, and thanksgiving, helping us care for both our physical health and our spiritual wellbeing.

There are also many physical benefits to the body God has given us, helping us to live with greater energy and resilience. Walking improves heart health and circulation, helps to lower blood pressure, strengthens bones and muscles, supports weight loss, improves balance and reduces falls risks and enhances sleep health. As Christians we are called to Stewardship, which includes caring for ourselves and our physical health; walking is therefore an act of self-care and an act of worship to our creator.

Please speak to Fr Bashir for more information.

LLANGYFELACH BELL RINGERS

Llangyfelach Church Bell Tower Restoration Project

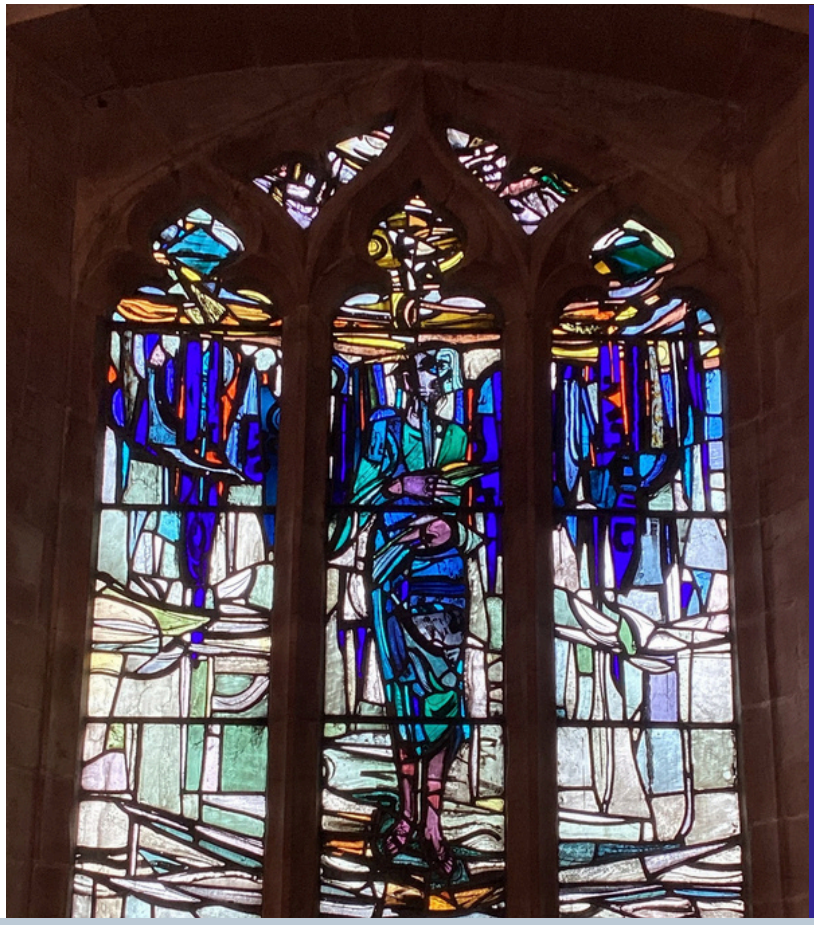

Llangyfelach bell tower is one of only 3 stand alone bell towers in Wales, of which only two benefit from having a peal of bells. The bell ringers enjoy weekly practices and ringing for Sunday services and other events, such as weddings and ringing in the new year. We're a sociable group, of all ages, and welcome new or visiting ringers. However, the bell tower that survived a storm in 1805 along with the current 4 bells, cast in 1805, and last restored in 1914 are now in desperate need of restoration to ensure they continue to ring out for future generations.

We are at the early stage of planning the tower and bell restoration. To achieve this we need a lot of practical help and skills including tasks such as applying for grants, project champions, history/research, photographer, website/leaflet creation and other administrative tasks. Personal stories from past bell ringers or anyone with a connection to Llangyfelach church bells would also be very welcome.

You don't need to be a bell ringer or even church member to help with this exciting project, you just need an willingness to help and an interest in preserving the history of Llangyfelach.

We are a friendly group so please get in touch if you can lend a hand, no matter how small.

"St. Luke reminds us that art, when touched by faith, becomes prayer. Every stroke, word, or act of beauty can glorify God when done with love."

A dedication to the memory of Clive Evans

BY CHRIS EVANS (CLIVES BROTHER)

This wonderful window was dedicated to the memory of Clive Evans who died on 5th July 1961 in a boating accident at Ross on Wye. His fellow students at Swansea Art College designed and built the window. Leading the work was Tim Lewis and Alan Figg.

The Main figure is of St. Luke. The patron saint of Artist as well as physicians. St. Luke is holding a bird in his hands. Clive often helped birds who had been injured, back to life and freedom. The colourful strips either side of St. Luke represent organ pipes. Clive was a great organist as well. Below St. Luke is a red line which is cut short by some sheers. This represents his life cut short at 23 years old. The Blue and Green shape represents the boat in which he lost his life. The top middle part of the window is the eye of God looking down.

This is such a gem of history and much still relates today at Llangyfelach Church with the need to keep fighting with the erratic bramble growth on our site. We have a duty as stewards of Llangyfelach Church to keep our grave yard in good order. We, as the people of the church some 200 years later need to actively work together to find ways to manage the grounds.

We perhaps should be lucky that we don't have the issue of pigs on site, so no one will go without dinner!!

Dear Lord, thank you for the rhythm of the different seasons. Thank you for the beauty of autumn, for the changing colours, the cooler air and the harvest food gathered. As we reflect on autumn, help us to see your hand at work, both within us and in nature. Help us to fix our eyes on you so that this season can be a time of gratitude, blessings and generosity towards others. Amen.

Crossword Answers

An Essay from Phil Llewellyn 2012: and where are we in 2026?

When I first went to Grammar School I had to study 'The History of the Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire' by the English historian Edward Gibbon, the first 'modern historian of Ancient Rome'. This tome was first published in 1776 and went on to cover 6 volumes. According to Gibbon, the Roman Empire succumbed to barbarian invasions in large part due to the gradual loss of civic virtue among its citizens.

Coincidentally 1776, when the first volume of Gibbons epic was published, saw America gain independence from Britain on 4th July. Was this the start of 'The Decline and Fall of the British Empire'?

Similarly, with the economic and political rise of China and India are we now witnessing the start of the 'Decline and Fall' of American dominance as the 'Superpower' of the world?

These events occur because we, as citizens of the various countries concerned allow them to, because we are either apathetic or too afraid to change our ways and do something about it.

I don't want to be part of another 'Decline and Fall' without giving it my best shot and trying to do something about it.

I refer of course to the 'Decline', but hopefully not 'The Fall' of the Church in Britain' and more especially 'The Church in Wales'.

Last Sunday when there was no communion service at Llangyfelach Church I was prompted to delve into the record book of services kept in the Vestry and extrapolate some figures that I found to be most enlightening.

I made a record of 'communicant numbers' for the 4 June Sundays and the 5 July Sundays between the years 2003 and 2012. In order to be able to compare them fairly, I then averaged them out over the nine week period in order to give me a comparison.

It is said that figures do not lie, if this is true then the figures I obtained in this exercise should frighten us all 'out of our apathy' and encourage us to 'Do something about it'.

In 2003 the average weekly communicant numbers at Llangyfelach Parish Church were 44.33. However this year 2012, the average weekly communicant number for the corresponding period had dropped to 24.25.

This is a 'Decline and Fall' of 45.3%

Surely, we (This means You and Me) must do something about it or in a very short period of time we will be sharing a minister with other churches and holding a communion service once a month, probably in the Church Hall.

The time has come when we have to be radical, we have to 'think the unthinkable' and 'do whatever we can' to get people, especially young families, to join us in our Christian fellowship and worship. The modern lifestyles people live and the disinterest of the modern generation in religion generally frightens and disappoints me.

How we do this I do not know, but we have to try or, like the Roman Empire, the British Empire and even the American Dream, Christianity will also go into a 'Decline and Fall' and become a minority religion in this great country of ours.

When I say we must be radical and think the unthinkable, may I encourage debate by asking the following questions?

1. Do we think we have enough 'variety' in our services? Not so long ago we held a Family Service every fourth Sunday when the children took part. Would that encourage families to join us? Many of you enjoy a 'Matins' Service. Are there others in the village who would like to come to one too if we held one regularly?
2. Do we think there is enough variety in our services? Would you like to take more of a part in the odd service?
3. Where is our (Your) choir every Sunday? Would 'you' like to join the choir?
4. Where is the Orchestra that Chris Evans so skilfully put together and who regularly took part in our services?
5. Where are our 'bell ringers', and when was the last time you heard the bells? The vicar has asked for volunteers to become bell ringers for the last several weeks. How many people have put their names forward? NONE. Chris Evans our 'Tower Captain' has been waiting for you. Where are you?
6. Do we 'rush' through our services and not make them thought provoking or friendly enough, or do we just want to 'take communion', 'ask forgiveness for our sins' and 'ask god to help us in our adversity' before rushing off to make dinner or go to some pub or restaurant for lunch before rushing home to watch the omnibus edition of Eastenders?
7. What happened to the cups of tea we planned to have at the back of the church after service on a Sunday? We now have the sink, we have the cups, we have the tea and coffee, we also have the volunteers to make it and clear away afterwards. All that is missing is the 'congregation' to drink it.
8. Are we welcoming enough as a congregation to our visitors? How many of them come again and become regular worshipers with us?
9. Does Sunday School work? Perhaps it's time to do away with it and ask Aunty Brenda, Jane and Jean to start a Sunday Club for the children instead? Would that bring in more children with perhaps the mums and dads coming to a service?
10. Do we hold services when 'we' want them and not when 'the community' wants them? Is 10-30 on a Sunday the best time for a communion service?

These are 10 questions I can immediately think of from the top of my head, you may have others that we need to discuss. Can I suggest that we kick this mission off by organising a 'bring a friend or neighbour to church' service.

Ask (and expect) every regular member of our congregation to try to get a friend, relative or neighbour to come with them to this service and hope that many will enjoy the experience so much that they will want to come again? At least for that service our average numbers would double from the average 24 we have now back to the 45 we had in 2003.
I have been radical in my views, but I hope I have also been thought provoking too. I don't want to be part of another 'Decline and Fall'.

Do you?

It's now 14 years to the month since I penned the missive above and I wonder if anything has changed during that period? (8th August 2012 to 31st August 2026)

The first change is that we have now ceased to be a Parish, but are one of 5 churches encumbered in the Ministry Area of Afon Tawe. The second change has been financial:

1. Our Annual Parish Quota in 2012 was £17,056.
2. This year our Ministry Area Share is £74,824
3. That is an increase of 339% over 14 years at an average of 24.21% per annum

To illustrate such an increase in real terms:
Petrol cost £6.38 a gallon in 2012, whilst today it averages £7.87, an increase of 23.3%. If that increase matched our MAS increase of 339%, a gallon today would cost £28.

However, the third and most significant change has been the arrival in 2017 of our current incumbent – The Rev Anthony Porter. Between 2012 and 2017 we had seen a continuing decline in numbers, but shortly after Anthony's appointment that decline started to reverse and we gradually began to grow again as a church family.

There was a perceptible revival and it was evident that we were witnessing a Spiritual Awakening in Llangyfelach. People were starting to look forward to coming to church again and attending social events. Our attendance numbers began to increase.

Today we have a church offering a variety of services. We have weekly Sunday and Thursday Eucharist Services, Healing Services, a Bible Study Group and various other standalone prayer services.

We have a Wise Women Group who meet monthly and who went on a Religious Retreat in 2025 and 2026. In 2025 it was for a single day Retreat whilst in 2026 they stayed overnight. It is already planned to go on a two-night Retreat to Llangasty in 2027.

The result of this 'Revival' is that our average Sunday Morning attendance through the months of June and July this year has risen to 51. This compares to the 2012 average over the same period of 24.

IT HAS MORE THAN DOUBLED.

Last Sunday 27th September we had 66 worshipers at our 10-30 Eucharist Service.

Our Organist Stephen Honeyman now has 8 regular members in his church choir, and is actively seeking others to join them. (They are particularly short of male voices).

Our Bell Captain Chris Evans intends to hand over the reins to Trudi Cook after serving the church for many decades in this role, and is already mentoring Trudi in her new duties. We regularly hear the bells again after many years of silence.

There is a coffee morning held every Thursday after the Eucharist Service and once a month we offer a cup of tea or coffee in the Church Hall after the Sunday Service. Although already well attended, we extend a warm welcome to everybody.

The Sunday School has started again after the summer break, and we hope that it will grow in numbers as our congregation continues to increase. Do you or your family have children or grandchildren who would like to attend?

We must continue to encourage others to come to church and be part of our church family so that we can continue to GROW!

👑👑👑A KING'S SURPRISE👑👑👑

Long ago, people expected a king to arrive with a grand army, shining armour, and a golden crown. But God sent a very different King.

Jesus is the King of Kings, yet He was born in a simple stable. He welcomed children, helped people who were sick, and showed kindness to everyone. Instead of demanding to be served, Jesus served others. He taught people about God's love and peace.
One day, Jesus rode into Jerusalem. The crowds waved palm branches and shouted, "Hosanna!" They were excited because they knew Jesus was their King. But Jesus came riding on a humble donkey, showing that His kingdom is built on love, not power.
Jesus is still King today. He rules with kindness, truth, and love. When we follow Him, we learn to love God and care for others too.
